CHURCH RITES WILL HONOR DR. FINGERLE

PHYSICIAN LONG RESIDENT OF COVINA IS MOURNED
BY MANY FRIENDS

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon (Saturday) at the Methodist church in Covina at 2:30, as a final act of respect for Dr. Charles F. Fingerle, a practicing osteopath in this city, and a resident since 1910.

Dr. Fingerle's death occurred after several weeks of very critical illness, following an attack of influenza, which left him with complications from which he was unable to rally. A host of friends, including fellow church members and members of social organizations, mourn his passing.

Dr. Fingerle was sixty years old, born on May 6, 1869, in Lansing, Michigan, the son of John and Rose Fingerle. A brother, John Fingerle, survives him in Detroit, also a sister, Mrs. George Johnston of Modesto, California, and his widow, at the residence on Badillo street. He was educated in the public schools of Lansing, moving to California in 1897. He was married in 1895 to Miss Allie Russell of Rochester, New York. Dr. Fingerle was graduated from the osteopathic college in Los Angeles in 1909, and was in this profession in the city and valley up until his death.

Dr. Fingerle was at all times very active in church affairs, joining the Methodist church at the age of fifteen, and taking prominent part in Y. M. C. A. work. He was a trustee of the Covina Methodist church during the past ten years, during nearly all of this time being church treasurer. He was a charter member of the Covina club, and at one time was president of the Covina public library board.

The pastor, Rev. George Steed, and members of the official board, will have charge of the funeral arrangements.

Rev. Bette A. Johnson, a former pastor of the church, will assist Rev. Steed in the services. The burial will take place in Forest Lawn cemetery in Los Angeles.

Elite Millinery Shop Displays Spring Styles

The Elite millinery and apparel shop brot to Covina Thursday, thru the Louise Christy sports apparel shop of Los Angeles, a breath of spring in the lovely sport and afternoon costumes. The models, Mrs. Velora Pummil and Miss Factor, the latter representative from the Christy shop, had an excellent place to display the costumes in the long aisle formed by the arrangement of chairs placed to accommodate the visitors both morning and afternoon.

In the late spring fashions, one caught a glimpse of dainty ensembles, wrap-around styles, and two-piece types. Scarfs, loose and a part of the costume, were a feature, pleated skirts were dominant, and the narrow or broad bands of a contrasting color on the edge of the skirt were also a pronounced feature.

Among the materials were print silks, hand-blocked silks, crepe, and the lovely Malinesen's pussy willow silk. One charming costume was of the Paul Pirot design, the Christy shop having the exclusive on the line of this famous French designer. Many beautifully embroidered silk gowns were also shown.

Many orders were taken for these gowns, no two models of the same being made in Covina.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS ENTERTAIN AT SUPPER

Lawrence McSwain and Crockett Hunter were initiated into the Covina Knights of Pythias lodge on Tuesday evening. After the work of the lodge a supper consisting of Virginia baked ham, sweet potatoes, apple pie and coffee was served to a large attendance. Pythianism celebrated its sixty-fifth birthday on February nineteenth.

DEATH OCCURS AT ADVANCED AGE OF 96

Death occurred on Friday of Edwin F. Morwin, at the age of ninety-six. Funeral services were held Saturday at the Methodist church, Rev. George Steed officiating, and in the charge of the Covina Funeral company. Mr. Morwin leaves a daughter, Mrs. S. M. Odeneal of Glendora, and his nephew with whom he made his home, W. C. Morwin of this city. Interment was in Riverside.

Mrs. Stocker, 83, "Lucky" Baldwin's Daughter, Dead

Thru arrangements made by the daughter, Mrs. J. F. "Rosebud" Mullender, of San Francisco avenue, West Covina, the funeral of Mrs. Clara Baldwin Stocker, venerable elder daughter of the late E. J. "Lucky" Baldwin, will be conducted by Christiansen & Moore, funeral directors of Covina, but the funeral will be held in the chapel of Pierce Brothers in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Stocker died about noon, Wednesday, February 27, at the Glendale sanitarium, at the age of 83 years. Both Mr. and Mrs. Mullender were at her bedside when death came. The funeral will be private, and to be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow (Saturday).

The death of Mrs. Stocker will make possible the final distribution of the "Lucky" Baldwin estate. It was said yesterday, however, that a considerable portion of the old pioneer's property has been held in trust since his death in 1910. In the Covina territory there is a large amount of hill land, on the south of the city, which belonged to this estate, and also a large amount of property owned in full by Mrs. Stocker. It is intimated that this property will be placed on the market.

Virtually all of the property on the south and southwest of Covina was owned at one time by "Lucky" Baldwin, known as La Puente rancho of about 13,000 acres. Most of it was subdivided and sold in the five years following the old horseman's death, but some still remains in the hands of the heirs.

SOUTH AMERICAN TRIP TOLD TO ROTARY CLUB

Rev. Harold Kelley, superintendent of the Seamen's Church Institute at Los Angeles harbor, was the speaker before the Covina Rotary club yesterday noon, recounting his trip into South American countries as a representative of the Rotary clubs of southern California.

He stated the need for a closer study of these countries, urging everyone to get behind the study of Spanish in the schools, as he declared that South America is to be increasingly an area of vast importance to citizens of the United States. Many visiting Rotarians from surrounding communities of the valley were present.

CHURCH OF BRETHREN IN EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

The local church of the Brethren is holding evangelistic services all this week with Rev. M. S. Frantz in charge. On Wednesday evening the Methodist church with them, with Rev. George Steed leading the devotion. This evening the Christian church will be with them with Dr. Thrapp in charge. Mrs. Thrapp will furnish the music. Tomorrow evening the Baptist church with Rev. R. W. Gentry and Mrs. Charlotte Nafel as soloist will be in charge.

Next week the churches of neighboring cities will join with the local church. Rev. Frantz will have charge of the services Sunday, the subject in the morning being "Songs of the Lord," and in the evening, "The Challenge of the Gospel."

FRUIT MANAGER COMMENDS ARGUS BUSINESS DIRECTORY

"The Argus business directory is a real service," said C. E. Hinchison, manager of the Irwindale Citrus association, this week.

"It emphasizes what is an actual fact—that Covina is a compact trading center, with all lines of business well represented. Such a directory of merchants and business men, if continued indefinitely will serve the surrounding valley in a practical manner. I am constantly referring to this page in my business."

REMINISCENCE MADE THEME AT MEN'S CLUB

OLD-TIMERS GIVE ACCOUNTS OF PIONEER STRUGGLES
IN COVINA VALLEY

A meeting which developed a larger diversity of interest than perhaps any other in several years was that of the Covina Men's club last Friday night, a dinner and program devoted largely to the old-timers of the valley, who were present in large numbers. Covina valley from its inception to the present, passed in review over the dinner table, with many an anecdote or statement of fact causing comment or laughter.

The program was arranged under the direction of Stanley Whitehead, the club president, and Harvey M. Brubaker, and was presided over by J. L. Matthews of the Argus, himself a pioneer since the earliest days, but not among the group that "started from the grass-roots."

Perhaps the best number relating to the old-timers was that one furnished by Charles E. Crawford, manager of the Covina Orange Growers' association, who started the ball rolling with a character recitation, one which he explained had been given at the "barn-warming" for John Houser, twenty-nine years ago. The excellence of the contribution recalled the fact that Mr. Crawford has been identified with an uncounted number of local entertainments for more than three decades.

Dan Richard of Irwindale recalled that the driest year he had ever known in the valley was in 1877, and told how he and his neighbors hauled water in barrels from the San Gabriel canyon. "Uncle" Thomas G. Griswold, the patriarch of them all, was introduced, but did not speak, and "Jimmie" Hodges, one-time justice of the peace of this township, told briefly of some of the early-day struggles. He came to the valley in 1885. His constable at that time was Clarence Allison, and Clarence gave the assembly a chance to laugh and to think with a few droll remarks comparing the old days to the present. He arrived in 1884, when the valley was a sea of sunflowers. E. G. Prather was introduced, but did not disclose the methods in vogue concerning early day sparking of the girls, as he was urged to do. A. M. Sealey and J. L. Motter told of trees of Mediterranean sweets with thirty-five and fifty-three loose boxes of fruit, and Harry Damerel, who admitted that he had been here thirty-seven years, explained how he used to run an early orange grader with an attachment of bicycle pedals. E. P. Warner, confessing to his appearance in 1888, told of his brother's leadership of Covina's first band, an aggregation so powerful that no horse could be made to stay in the road within a mile of it. Dr. J. D. Reed explained what went on at the big celebration when the Southern Pacific line reached Covina in 1898.

A touch of sadness was introduced when pictures were shown of the dinner in honor of the newly-elected United States senator, Frank P. Flint, whose death occurred recently while on a trip around the world. Covina gave Senator Flint his first public recognition after his election. J. O. Houser gave some interesting reminiscences, as did C. W. Potter, the latter telling vividly of some of the dances that were held, and of the labor of getting out Covina's first newspaper, "The Independent," a copy of the first edition being displayed at the table. This newspaper announced the big land sale of the Phillips tract, now Covina, with choice vineyard and orchard land offered at sixty-five dollars per acre. Many questions were asked from the floor, and other pioneers participated with short suggestions and talks.

Bingham T. Wilson, rancher, author and inventor, well known in the valley, delivered a short and timely address on the life of George Washington at the close of the program. The community singing was led by Dean Foster, himself a pioneer of the younger group.

Among the speakers who preceded the old-timers were E. C. Eaton, chief engineer of food control for the county, who told the status of the San Gabriel dam and of the channel work in the county, and Myron J. Haig of the San Gabriel Valley Development association, who urged support for the big air terminal proposed to be located at El Monte. Tallman H. Trask of Pasadena, at the head of the Boy Scout work in the valley gave an outline of what the Scouts are accomplishing, and praised the mobilization of the Scouts recently held in Covina.

A group of songs, rendered by Mrs. Charlotte White Nafel, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Damerel, received much applause. She sang "One Fleeting Hour," "Dreaming," and "When You and I Were Young, Maggie." The gathering was led in the singing of a number of old-time songs by Dean Foster, one of the pioneers. The dinner was served by the members of the Women's club, and the attendance was the largest that the club has experienced this year.

Community Players Stage Premiere in Auditorium Tonight

"The Whole Town's Talking," a farce in three acts, sponsored by the Covina Rotary, Lions and Legion, is the attraction tonight at the Covina high school auditorium. The play will be repeated tomorrow night.

Performances begin at 8:15. The talent is all local, under the direction of A. Schornagle. Three plays are to be given thru the season, and season tickets may be purchased at Nash's drug store.

Tickets for tonight's play may be purchased irrespective of season ticket purchases. About seventy per cent of the house was sold yesterday afternoon, with plenty of good seats remaining. Phil Nash said.

Kerekhoff, Early Developer, Given Honor in Death

William G. Kerekhoff, 73 years old, died at his residence, 734 West Adams street, Los Angeles, last Friday, was as truly one of the pioneers of the San Gabriel valley as any who have been mentioned in connection with the development of this area.

All cities of the valley felt his influence in the early days, and he was a heavy investor in orchard property throughout what is now the Covina district, as well as elsewhere in the valley. Otto Anderson, now living on Rowland avenue, was for many years his foreman, handling extensive properties here. Mr. Kerekhoff was a brother of the late Anton P. Kerekhoff of Covina. Both men were strongly identified with local development thru a long period of years.

William G. Kerekhoff was the genius behind the development of the first electrical power in the San Gabriel and San Antonio canyons. The power house at the head of San Gabriel canyon, now owned by the Edison company, was a part of the development of the Pacific Light and Power company of which W. G. Kerekhoff was the head and directing personality.

Besides the members of the Covina Kerekhoff families, there were a number of others from Covina in attendance at the funeral, held on Monday at the Los Angeles residence, an occasion when the heads of the largest business and industrial firms of the city paid tribute to this leader.

BASKETBALL PLAYOFF GAME "UP IN AIR"

After winning the 1929 basketball championship of the San Gabriel valley by defeating Puente last week, Coach Newman's casaba tossers are temporarily held up from annexing more territory under their championship banner by the failure of the Citrus Belt league to finish its schedule of games. Covina was slated to meet the winner of this league for a sectional championship, but it is said that it will be three weeks before the regular schedule is finished, and the Covina players are all ready to take up baseball. So Newman is undecided whether to keep his men in shape for the playoff game or not.

Pomona is leading in the Citrus Belt league and is said to have a strong team.

Practice on baseball has already started on the Covina training grounds. With the material on hand the prospects for a good team are good. Harold Chamberlain, pitcher, is, of course the pivot man of the team, being probably one of the best high school pitchers in the state. Twirling with all the force of a big leaguer, it is a difficult matter to find a boy who can catch for him to the best advantage.

BRIDGE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Pedersen entertained Thursday evening with a bridge party at their home on Fifth street. Decorations, tallies and refreshments were carried out in patriotic colors. Mrs. Frank Nicol won high score for the ladies and Mrs. Burnet for the gentlemen, low scores going to Miss Sophie Clark and Mr. Frank Tillman. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. M. Burnet, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nicol, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tripp, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Haine, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tillman, Miss Marian Tillman, and Mr. Ivan Pyle.

Small blocks of coal dust, mixed with cement to hold the grains together, have been prepared by a western company as a way of utilizing coal too small for sale. Only two bags of cement are used to a ton of coal, and as little water as possible. The briquets are pressed in molds and each weighs about five pounds. They are said to burn readily and leave but little ash.

The singing of a number of old-time songs by Dean Foster, one of the pioneers. The dinner was served by the members of the Women's club, and the attendance was the largest that the club has experienced this year.

FRIENDS PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO H. TEMPLE

ODDFELLOWS AND CITIZENS
FILL CHAPEL AT SERVICE FOR OLD RESIDENT

After twenty-nine years of residence in Covina, during which time he gained a circle of close friends, Hamilton Temple, in his seventy-ninth year, died Sunday night about 11:30 o'clock. He had been in failing health for six years, but was occasionally seen about the streets transacting business in connection with his ranch and household in East Puente street.

Mr. Temple's career as an active business man in St. Louis and other places in the United States brot him a large fortune, and most of his active life was lived in the east. He did not enter into business to any extent since coming to the Pacific coast, but was known generally as a retired business man. He raised a family of eight children, most of them living now in this locality. He was born in Reading, Massachusetts, on November 19, 1841, and leaves a widow, Clara A. Temple, the children being Hamilton Jr., William, Mark, Mary Gertrude, Clara, Mrs. Carroll Woodworth and Mrs. I. J. De Fount.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 at the parlors of Christiansen & Moore, with the rooms taxed to capacity to accommodate the attendance of relatives and friends. A mass of flowers banked the front of the chapel about the casket. One of the largest delegations of the Oddfellows lodge that has been in regalia in Covina for some years was in attendance, and later conducted the services at the grave in Oakdale cemetery. Mr. Temple had been a lifelong member of that organization, affiliated with a St. Louis lodge.

A quartet composed of Herschel Clayton, Ed Keller, Miss Adelle Keller and Mrs. Russell Thrapp sang favorite hymns, and Mrs. Thrapp sang one special number, "Good Night." The pallbearers were Frank Bisbee, A. M. Sealey, George Sealey, D. S. Hammond, A. Springer, and E. P. Warner.

Agency Opening for DeSoto Six Well Attended

Groups of visitors interested in the new models of the De Soto six automobile and the Fargo truck, continued to arrive between the hours of 4 and 10 o'clock last Saturday at the agency headquarters, corner of Citrus avenue and Covina boulevard.

The occasion was the opening of the agency by Henry C. Freed, V. A. Nyman and E. Clyde Stickney. Several hundred people passed thru the display rooms during the afternoon and evening. Refreshments were served and a musical program given.

Big floral baskets were on display, among them being goodwill messages from William E. Bush, distributor in southern California for the De Soto.

COACH NEWMAN

"Average Citizen" Under Discussion at Woman's Club

The Covina Woman's club was entertained Monday afternoon by Lyman Bryson of the extension division of the University of California, who spoke on "The Average Citizen and Our Foreign Affairs." The speaker dealt with the European nations, especially England, France and Germany, and their ideas of reconstruction following the world war. He mentioned their different ideas, brot about by their outlook, necessities and ways of living, making it difficult for the American traveler to bring home a unified opinion of existing conditions in Europe.

The musical part of the program was furnished by Miss Millie Watts of West Covina, who gave the following group of songs: "Who Is Sylvia?" (Schubert), "Dawn" (Curran), "Tally-Ho" (Lion), and responded to an enthusiastic encore with "You'd Better Ask Me," by Lohr. Miss Watts was accompanied by Miss Dorothy Blanchard.

The hostesses were Mrs. J. B. Elliott, assisted by Miss Elliott, and Mrs. Nagle, assisted by Mrs. Wheat. Miss Lillian Douglas, president, presided over the business session and made several announcements at the close of the program.

CLUB NOTES

The date of the planting of the tree in the Botanic gardens by the garden section of the club has been changed from March 4th to Friday, the 22nd. The section plans to plant a Berberis Purpuria and plans are being made to charter a bus to take the members to the gardens. This will be the first garden section in California to plant a tree in the Forest of Fame. It is fitting that the Covina flower section should plant the first tree as this section was the first of its kind in California clubs.

The meeting of the home economics section has been changed from next Monday to March 18th, when a fine program has been arranged.

A 6:30 supper has been planned by the ways and means committee of the club for Monday. It is to be a social evening, the first of several planned to bring the members and their families together.

First City Dads Shown in Picture

Since the Covina Men's club revived interest in the old days of Covina city and valley, pictures have been coming forth from closets and mantelpieces of Covina residences.

The windows of Whitehead's store have been filled with them for two weeks, but among the photographs brot to light this week are two in the possession of L. L. Rakekin of the San Gabriel Valley Milling company that have a special interest. One is of the first city dads of Covina, together with other city officials, including in all, E. G. Clapp, first mayor, Charles Parker, justice of the peace, C. W. Potter, trustee, F. M. Douglas, treasurer, T. E. Finch, trustee, L. L. Rakekin, trustee, Joseph Moxley, trustee, I. C. Fairly, constable, and E. B. Carrier, clerk and city attorney. Those were the days of high collars, moustaches and whiskers.

Another picture is that of the village of Covina in the early days, with the streets but mere dirt paths between the newly-planted orchards, and with many shade trees towering above the small homes and little wooden churches.

BRIDGE AND KENSINGTON

One of the social affairs of the past week was the bridge and Kensington given Wednesday of last week by Mrs. L. N. Danbyre on Ben Lomond avenue, Glendora. The spacious rooms were decorated with spring flowers, the same colors being carried out in the refreshments. One hundred and fifty guests enjoyed the affair, which was a benefit for the Glendora Woman's club. Among the Covina ladies who won prizes for the Kensington and bridge were Mrs. J. L. Matthews, Mrs. E. G. Prather and Mrs. Helen Petty.

CHIEF NEWMAN WILL COACH POET SQUAD

COVINA COLTS INSTRUCTOR
CAPTURED BY WHITTIER
FOR COMING TERM

When his fourth year as coach of athletics in Covina union high school is completed in June, Wallace ("Chief") Newman, creator of championship football and baseball teams, will become the varsity coach for Friends union, the Covina college at Whittier.

Altho rumors have been flying thru the air like fragments from a bursting shell for several weeks, confirmation of this change did not come until this week. Townspeople and valley residents, who are one hundred per cent followers of the fortunes of Covina high school sports, were mixed in their emotions. All expressed regret at losing the redoubtable "Chief," but at the same time rejoiced with him that he is stepping into the class of college coaches, where his abilities will have a wider swing at fame.

"It is my intention to make the study of college sports a lifetime endeavor," the coach said yesterday. "I am not in this work for just a few years, but have been laying a foundation to carry it on and, if possible, contribute something to this highly important branch of school training."

"Football is not just a game. Football fans like to applaud the man who carries the ball; they like the sensational play, and so do the instructors, for that is what makes the game interesting. But behind every play is intellect, quick thinking—the business of out-guessing the other fellow, and as a preparation for the game of life I don't know of any other thing that is more essential. Football, and other sports as well, teach initiative, courage, patience, quick and accurate decision, and in the manner in which it is supervised in late years, also teaches courtesy and fair play."

"The Chief" has been one of the outstanding athletic instructors of southern California since he came to Covina and began to produce championship teams. Perhaps as nothing else has done it, the coach and his football teams have put Covina "on the map" during the last three years. When Covina played the metropolitan papers featured the games. Covina is known over the state because of the exceptional showing of its school on the gridiron.

At Whittier he will handle varsity football and baseball and freshman baseball. Himself a football star at U. S. C., he has prestige that his friends say will carry him far, now that he has entered the work in the higher institutions of learning. Advice from the campus of the Poets are to the effect that the student-body is overjoyed at the news of his acquisition, and it is certain that the city of Whittier will get solidly behind him. The college football team has been playing in a conference which includes also such institutions as Pomona college, Occidental, Cal-Tech, La Verne, San Diego State, and Radlands. Outside games generally include University of Arizona and Fresno normal school. The Covina school officials have not made any plans to pick a successor as yet, it was said yesterday. It is the intention of Superintendent Millikan and the school officials to canvass the field carefully, and it is expected that a man will be selected who will be able to "carry on" in a manner satisfactory to the lovers of sports in the school, the city and the valley.

The Los Angeles Examiner, in reviewing Newman's career this week, said:

"Chief Newman is well known as a former football star at the University of Southern California. He went directly to Covina high school after being graduated from U. S. C. and proceeded to grab off two southern California prep gridiron titles in his first two seasons with the Colts. These years were 1925-26. In 1927 the Colts were runners up, losing to Fullerton by a single point. Last season Covina dropped out of the C. T. F. but was regarded as one of the strongest teams in the south-land."

YOUNG MEN TO TAKE UP ARMY FLYING TRAINING

Harold Nigg and Jerry Hoyle left Monday for the government flying station at March field, where they will take intensive training in army flying. The young men were able to enter because of their college credentials and having passed the physical examinations required. They expect to remain at March field for several months and will later be sent to other flying stations.

What's in a Name?

Azusa, in the California Indian nomenclature, means the place of the skunk, we are told. But skunks, in early days, were just as numerous in all of the foothill settlements. They came down out of the mountain area, and because the skunk has ever been of the opinion that he was wrongfully made a social outcast, insisted on mingling with the night life of the pioneers.

La Puente means "The Bridge," but the only bridge in that region is at Bassett, several miles away, spanning the San Gabriel river. Perhaps that's where the town originated. Who knows, for sure?

San Dimas is said to be a corruption of St. Dicmas, named for one of the thieves crucified alongside of the Christ. It is said that the original Spanish owner thus designated this part of his immense holdings because he didn't think much of it. That place now bears out the truism that "the first shall be last, and the last shall be first."

Baldwin Park for many years was known as the place where no man by the name of Baldwin had ever resided, and where there was no park. There may be Baldwins there now, and the community is in a fair way to acquire a beautiful park. "Lucky" Baldwin once owned the land, but his headquarters or ranch houses were never in that vicinity.

Monrovia was named for Monroe, the subdivider, and Glendora, while by no means in a glen, was given a name combined with that of the daughter of the original promoter, the story goes. Lordsburg, now La Verne, was named for the man who laid it out. Its present name signifies a place always green and prolific in verdure, it is understood, which, if true, comes nearer the point than some of the other names in the valley.

One can get all kinds of explanations for the name, Covina, according to the vividness of the imagination. But there are old-timers who say that the spot looked as if it was shut in on all sides by the hills, forming a cove, and that the rest of the name was manufactured from the fact that the first plantings here were vines—wine grapes. The only legitimate use of the word "cove," however, is where it is applied to an arm of the sea reaching inland. Perhaps the cove who named it was trying to be facetious.

Some of the streets in Covina were inevitably named after the early pioneers who were the most active and potential, such as Hollenbeck and Badillo, the first being a family that became very prominent in the history of Los Angeles, and the second, a family of American descent, who that they were the crop that should be grown here, and dropped quite a little money experimenting. But there does not seem to be any street named for Phillips, the actual subdivider and promoter of Covina, altho the maps still speak of the subdivision as the Phillips tract.

There are men and women still alive and hearty who have been here since the first plow turned under the sage and sunflower plants, and who helped to bring the first irrigating water from the canyon. Some organization, perhaps the Covina Men's club, may make a place for itself in the local hall of fame by compiling these fast-fading facts. The San Gabriel valley has a history as interesting at least as that of any locality between the two North American oceans.

Time to Wake Up—

Pasadena's persistence in an attempt to acquire, store and divert water from the San Gabriel canyon has progressed from an obsession to a mania. Unwise counsel has led that city into a situation where the citizens are being made the goat for a mass of legal quibbling that can only benefit lawyers, and arrive nowhere.

Any fair-minded individual must admit that Pasadena's position is untenable. Analysis of the water situation in that canyon does not require special technical training to show that the water Pasadena seeks does not exist, and if this hypothetical water should be developed, it belongs, not to Pasadena, but to the users of water in the San Gabriel valley, who have stood ready to use it, and have had a definite need for it at all times. The water of the canyon is now appropriated to its fullest extent under state law. The state has ruled that if any water is conserved above and over that amount appropriated, Pasadena may have the right to divert it. But such water is purely mythical. Thru attorneys and others, Pasadena has been led to believe something which is not true, and starting with a false premise, that city is getting nowhere.

The flood control district cannot store water for them under the law. The state cannot grant them something that does not exist. The government can grant them a right to build a diversion dam, but the government cannot provide water for the dam.

In the friendliest of spirit, we earnestly suggest that Pasadena turn its efforts to the development and conservation of water in its own watershed, and in its own run-off area. According to repeated surveys, the water is obtainable. Surplus water for diversion purposes in the San Gabriel canyon is a dream that is on its way to become a nightmare with the Crown City people. They should get down to a practical and reasonable basis, and extricate themselves from an untenable position.

The Blue and the Gray—

Hemet News: The proposition sponsored by Congressman Edgar Howard of Nebraska to hold in the national capital, during the present year, a reunion of the surviving veterans of the Civil war of both north and south, will meet the hearty approval of every citizen, including the payment of all expenses out of the public treasury. In recent years there have been reunions of northern and southern veterans at Gettysburg, Vicksburg and elsewhere, and from time to time there have been exchanges of historic battle flags, silent testimony to the fact that old animosities have been forgotten. A great reunion of the few remaining survivors of this ancient family quarrel would completely eradicate the last remnants of sectionalism, of which the present generation knows very little and cares less.

Lighter home tasks—every day

Modern women pride themselves on keeping house well—but with as little effort as possible. The day of the martyr is past. And one of the most vital aids to efficient new-day housekeeping is the "years ahead" General Electric Refrigerator.

The planning of menus is so much simpler—and the number of trips to market can be cut in half. Entertaining has lost its effort because the problem of what to serve can now be so pleasantly solved.

The General Electric Refrigerator is different from all others. All its machinery is safely sealed in an airtight steel casing. It never needs oiling. It operates automatically, quietly and economically. It makes plenty of ice and keeps foods at the scientifically correct temperature—below 50 degrees always.

Goodhousekeepers like the broom-room under these refrigerators. And they have commented favorably on the upward-rising current of air which radiates from the coils and keeps the dust from settling. See the various models—and examine them from every angle. If you want to, you can buy yours on a deferred payment plan.

"Good Dairy Country as Any in State"

Mountain View Farms Co., Marysville, Calif., Oct. 20, 1928.

Gentlemen: I bought twenty acres from you December 6, 1927, and moved here January 16th. I like it here better than anywhere I ever lived. I came here from Yakima valley, Washington. I came here with $3,000. I paid $1,000 cash on my place. I built a four-room house, barn, garage, chicken house, planted 10 acres to grapes and prunes, the balance of the twenty acres am putting into alfalfa and grain. I bought four dairy cows, Fordson tractor, plow, and put in a domestic well and pump. We have electricity and an electric range. We still have some money left. Besides improving my place, I have had all the outside work I could do, which has more than paid our living expenses. My wife and I have made in outside wages more than $1,000 to date since we came here. We have worked in fruit harvest, cannery, and field work. My wife liked her work in the cannery, and will go back next year.

I have been in every important town in this state, except San Francisco and Oakland. I spent several months in San Joaquin valley. We have the finest water system on Marysville Farms' I have ever seen, and the cheapest I know of. I planted corn in July, which is now mature. This soil produces well, is level, but has good drainage, and no alkali, and there is no danger of over-flow from the rivers, as it is high land above the levees. I like this climate especially, nights are cool and the days not too hot. Stock does fine, we get lots of milk and excellent prices. My hogs have done fine. I raised pigs at five months weighing from 145 to 160 pounds fed on skimmed milk, but no grain, and sold them in August for 12c per pound live weight. I think this is an ideal dairy country, from the standpoint of climate and prices of milk and butter. My wife and children like it fine here. I don't know of anywhere in this country where we could get as much value as we got when we bought this land from you.

My dealings with your company have been entirely satisfactory and fair, and you have cooperated with me in every way.

Very truly yours,

R. G. WEAVER.

The utilities of a city are combined in your motor car

YOUR automobile is something like a miniature city. There is an electric light and power system, a water system, a fuel system.

In the new Ford, you will find each of these systems of the latest design and best materials. Every part has been made to serve you faithfully and well at a minimum of trouble and expense.

Take, for example, the generator—one of the most important parts of the electrical system which supplies the current for lighting and for engine ignition.

In the new Ford, the generator is of the power-house type and is distinctive in many features. It has been specially designed to prevent most forms of trouble. Oiling is necessary only once a year. About the only thing you need do is to have the charging rate changed as the seasons change.

Closely allied to the electrical system is the ignition system. It, too, is of new mechanical design in the new Ford. There is but one high tension cable and that connects the coil with the distributor. Even cables from the distributor to the spark plugs have been eliminated. Special care has also been taken to make the distributor water-proof, thus preventing short circuits from rain, etc.

The entire electrical and ignition systems of the new Ford are so simple in design and so carefully made that they will give you surprisingly little trouble. Yet that doesn't mean they should be neglected. Certain little attentions are needed from time to time.

The storage battery should be given water and the connections kept clean. The generator charging rate should be changed as indicated. Spark plugs should be cleaned at regular intervals. Distributor points should also be kept clean and the distributor cam given a light film of vaseline every 2000 miles.

These are just little things, but they mean a great deal to your car. You can have them looked after at very small cost by the Ford dealer when you take the car in for oiling and greasing.

A thorough checking-up at regular intervals will lengthen the life of your car and give you many thousands of miles of carefree, economical motoring.

Sewer Outfall Needs Stressed by Col. Wood

Glendora Gleaner: The value and need of the metropolitan sewer was stressed last Monday at the noon meeting of the chamber of commerce by Col. Wood, secretary of the Covina chamber.

The colonel pointed out the absolute need that Covina faces for a sewer outlet. They voted bonds some years ago and purchased 40 acres of land for a sewer outlet. Before they even opened the sewer they were compelled to stop by property owners in the vicinity and have never been able to use it. They have been offered small manufacturing plants, but they would not come to a cesspool town. They are going to object to the people of Glendora and other hillside towns allowing their sewage to flow down into wells from which they get their drinking water. Col. Wood said it was not honest nor right to expect them to accept our sewage and he certainly is right. He asserted that all of the valley towns must have an outlet and hoped they would join in completing the proposed metropolitan sewer to the ocean as proposed.

He spoke of the restrictions of the state board of health, which some time, and perhaps not very many years hence, will not allow further use of cesspools even in a city little in need of an outlet, as Glendora.

He asked that the men in favor of the original plan make it a point to help carry the bond issue that will probably be put up this spring to complete the original work in district No. 7. He cited the fact that the original estimate of 26 cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation has been reduced to at least 20 cents, owing to the increased valuation now in the district. He was given a vote of thanks for his straightforward showing of facts.

La Verne Doctor Writes Opinion on Smudging

Dr. W. I. T. Hoover, writing in the La Verne Leader last week, says of the smudge nuisance:

I believe there is a way to abate this nuisance and in the near future entirely to eliminate it. Man's inventive genius ought to be adequate to the solution of this problem. From my observation of the demonstrations at various places, including the Los Angeles county fair, that a very practical and almost smokeless heater is invented, and is now in use in many of our orange and lemon groves. But the best of them is similar to the former kerosene lamp; that is, if it was not properly cared for, it would give off a great deal of smoke.

Now, this is my remedy in part, at least: The citrus grower who benefits directly by heating his grove should employ, if need be, enough additional help in order to keep properly adjusted the heaters while burning and to thoroughly clean them the next day. This method will give the heaters a chance to function to the best of which they are capable. It will certainly eliminate a very considerable part of the objectionable smoke and soot. It might be well to insist upon using a better grade of oil.

Now, why should each citrus grower who heats his grove and derives the direct benefit from heating, force this nuisance upon the helpless, the sick, and those engaged in many other lines of honest business to the extent he has been when a very large proportion of the "smudge" can be avoided? The additional expense to the grower is nominal, but to the thousands of people it is a much greater expense to clean up the residences, stores, clothing, etc., to say nothing about the additional laundry bills, physical and mental discomfort and suffering. Since there are practically smokeless heaters and many are in the LaVerne and adjoining districts, it is but reasonable that the public demand these heaters be kept clean and properly regulated while in use, and that the citrus grower bear the additional expense, if there be such, of thus caring for his heaters.

We all need to plan how we may save our citrus fruits and at the same time eliminate this man-made evil. If the above method is not feasible or there is a better way, let me know it. I am certain the public press will be only too glad to disseminate any information that will aid us to save our citrus fruits, keep our fair valley uncontaminated, save the public untold thousands of dollars of clean up after a siege of "smudge," conserve our health and piece of mind.

FACTS ABOUT TEA

The Irish people are the largest consumers of tea per capita in the world, consuming 8½ pounds per capita as against three-fourths pound in the United States and 6½ pounds in England. Tea being their main beverage, and consumption for Irish trade so keen, the finest teas of the best gardens of Ceylon and India are blended and sold in Ireland.

It is a strange fact that the two poorest countries in Europe, prior to the war, Russia and Ireland, drank the highest priced teas offered on the London exchange.

The following is an excerpt from a treatise on tea by a well-known authority:

"That poverty is not a bar to the use of fine tea is to be seen in the west of Ireland, where everyone is struck by the magnificent quality of what is sold. In the relatively better-off districts of Ireland, also, very much finer tea is consumed than in similar parts of other nations."

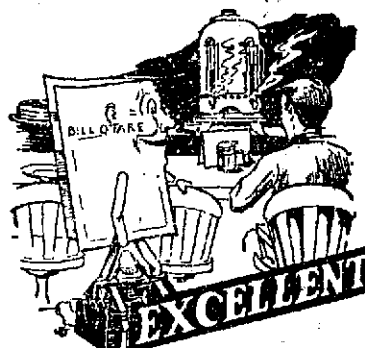

For this reason Irish tea will yield more cups to the pound.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our friends for their kind sympathy expressed in the many beautiful floral tributes and to the L.O.O.F. lodge of Covina for the impressive services at the grave of our beloved husband and father.

MODERN TIMES MODERN METHODS

Gone are the days when people kept their money in the old, cracked teapot. Perhaps you've even forgotten the time when you paid all your bills with cash.

In keeping with the trend of the times is the modern method of doing one's banking by mail. Particularly in making deposits, using the mails saves time, trouble and expense.

Covina Legion Discusses Plan for Clubhouse

Favorable reaction to a plan to build an inexpensive clubhouse on property immediately west of the bath house and plunge at the Covina park was the result of a discussion Monday night at the regular bi-monthly meeting of Howard T. Douglas post, American Legion, of Covina.

The post has owned two lots at this location for some time, free of encumbrance, and has long felt the need of an adequate meeting place. It is proposed that a building be erected to conform with restrictions and city specifications, but which will otherwise be somewhat of a temporary character, suitable for use for perhaps five years or more, or until the post is in financial position to assume larger obligations. The post at the present time has 106 paid-up members, the largest enrollment of any post in the upper San Gabriel valley.

It is pointed out by members that a building at this location would bring a revenue with a canteen maintained on a larger scale than the present one now operated in the park by the Legion in the summer months. The proposal was made that expenditure be confined wholly to the purchase of lumber and material, and that the building be erected at a "building bee," participated in by the post members and auxiliary. The next regular meeting of the post, on March 11, will be devoted to a dinner dance for the members and the auxiliary.

BIRTHDAY DINNER DANCE

Mr. and Mrs. George Powers celebrated the birthday of their daughter, Miss Cleo, with a dinner dance Friday evening at the Stone Lantern. Covers were laid for Grace Roscoe, Dorothy Edwards, Arlene Root, Eleanor Longworth, Leila Rodman, Norma Frost, Devere Archer, Cleo Powers, Robert Goodell, Joe Conlon, Frank Brandon, Fred Platt, Joyce Dietz, and Joe Wheeler.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT

The seventh of March will start another bridge tournament at the Mountain Meadows country club. This is the date of the regular monthly bridge luncheon. The final playoff of the first tournament has not yet been held, the contestants being Mrs. J. A. Adair of Glendora and three players from Pomona.

SAN GABRIEL DAM WATER STORAGE ILLEGAL, COUNSEL FOR FLOOD CONTROL RULES

Unless a special act of the legislature is passed, Pasadena cannot be granted the right to store water in the San Gabriel canyon dam, now under construction. This is the opinion of Special Counsel Vincent Morgan, given this week to the board of supervisors.

The dam is being constructed under the act creating the Los Angeles county flood control district, approved June 12, 1915, statutes of 1915, page 1502, and is defined as follows:

"An act to create a flood control district to be called Los Angeles county flood control district, to provide for the control and conservation of flood and storm waters, and for the protection of harbors, waterways, public highways and property in said district from damage from such waters, and for the construction of works, and the acquisition of property therefor; to authorize the incurring of indebtedness, and the voting, issuing and selling of bonds, and the levying and collecting of taxes by said district; to provide for the government and control of said district; and to define the powers and duties of the officers thereof."

Section two of the act declares: "The objects and purposes of this act are to provide for the control of the flood and storm waters of said district, and to conserve such waters for beneficial and useful purposes by spreading, storing, retaining, or causing to percolate into the soil within said district, or to save and conserve in any manner, all or any of such waters, and to protect from damage from such flood or storm waters, the harbors, waterways, public highways and property in said district."

Special Counsel Morgan, who is upheld by Flood Control Counsel Dowds, declares that storage in the San Gabriel dam prevents the full functioning of the dam as a flood control structure. In other words, no water can be stored continuously as Pasadena must demand in order to make the water available at all times for domestic purposes. The dam must be emptied after each storm, to cause percolation in the streambed area, and to be ready for another storm, else the dam will not function as a flood control dam. Water may be left behind the dam after the rainy season has definitely been concluded. All-the-year-round storage, however, would seriously interfere with flood control functions.

CITY INTERESTED

Counsel W. B. Mathews of the city of Los Angeles, also interested in this question, and seeking an amendment to the act, is said to be at work on the drawing of an amendment that would make legal the storage of water behind this dam. The city of Los Angeles is interested from the standpoint of a possible use of the dam in storing Colorado river water.

An act granting powers for one purpose cannot, or should not be amended to grant a power completely inimical to the first purpose, the supervisors were told by Counsel Morgan. Flood control and storage are not reconcilable in the same dam, he points out, a stand which is completely upheld by all engineers. The storage and conservation features of the San Gabriel dam relate only to the retention of water after the rainy season, and the spreading and storing in the lower basin after the water has been released from the dam.

Pasadena has not established any rights to water in the San Gabriel canyon, the counsel pointed out. That city has been granted a right by the state division of water rights to store and divert a maximum of 150,000 acre feet in five years, providing, of course, that the water exists, and has not been previously appropriated. Virtually all cities and communities of the San Gabriel valley are contesting Pasadena's claim. Since all water at the present time is now, and has been for many years, under complete appropriation, and since it is not the intention of the county to store water behind the dam for any purposes, any surplus water of a hypothetical nature, presumed to be developed by the dam, will not exist, and Pasadena's flings are therefore of no avail, it is declared. While great amounts of water will be conserved and stored because of the San Gabriel dam, it will be stored or conserved in the lower basin, and will not be subject to flings or appropriation by any save those who lift it to the surface within the valley proper.

PINE CANYON SITE

Simultaneous with the announcement of this opinion, a statement has come from the general land office of the federal government that Pasadena's permit to store water in 600 acres of land at what is known as the Pine canyon damsite has been granted. In granting this permit, William Spry, land office commissioner of Washington, D. C., dismissed the protests of Long Beach, Whittier and the San Gabriel Valley Protective association. The protesters have thirty days in which to appeal. The Pine canyon site would be independent of the San Gabriel dam, but would continue to interfere with the functions of the San Gabriel dam in storing and spreading waters in the lower basin, it is pointed out by the protesters. It would catch the water released by the San Gabriel dam, and divert it to Pasadena. Ownership, for purposes of diversion, of a minimum of 30,000 acre feet per year would, in many years, cause the diversion of the entire output of the big dam, leaving nothing to be spread or stored in the gravels of the lower canyon. The canyon, in many years, does not produce 30,000 acre feet as the entire annual flow of the river.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE

Mrs. Blanche Anderson entertained Tuesday afternoon at her home on Glendora avenue with a miscellaneous shower in honor of her daughter-in-law, the bride of Charles Anderson. Beside the honor guest there were present eighteen ladies of West Covina living in the immediate neighborhood. The hostess had decorated the livingroom in acacia blossoms and used the valentine motif in the dining room and with the refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson will live in Baldwin Park.

Consolidated Schools Declared Disastrous Plan

(Los Angeles Examiner)

There is a bill before the legislature—assembly 459—which proposes to change the entire public school picture in California by doing away with the small school, and forming districts, not one of which shall have less than 1500 pupils.

This bill, drawn by the educational committee of the California Taxpayers' association, would not leave to present school districts any freedom of choice in the matter. The abandonment of their schools would be mandatory. They must combine with enough adjacent districts to make up what is called a "county unit," with an average daily attendance of at least 1500.

This proposal should be defeated. It should be defeated because it would strike at every fundamental which has built up such wonderful schools throughout California. The interest and activity of the parents in local districts have been a tremendous intangible asset and must be maintained.

Instead of the nearby school, convenient and intimate, its problems and needs known to the surrounding neighborhood, the parents in close and constant touch with the progress of their children, there would be a "center of education," necessarily remote from most of the pupils, to which they would be taken in buses.

That would mean the surrender of autonomy as to school affairs by the communities. The right of self-government in this respect is one that the people in all sections of California have jealously guarded. Perhaps some of the present educational results do not measure up to certain modern pedagogic standards, but if there is anything sacrificed in that respect it is more than made up in the preservation of forms and principles of democracy, which are most effectively represented by our schools as now constituted.

It is in the country districts that the people are in especially close contact with their schools. And it is the country districts that would be hit by this scheme. Already these country districts have been heard from thru their newspapers. They are unanimously against the proposal. And they are right. They should not be asked to give up institutions that are almost as sacred to them as their houses of worship.

There is another vital consideration—the natural objections of parents to the bus system of transportation. In a single county in the lower San Joaquin valley thirty-four schools, with 2500 pupils, would be abandoned. These 2500 children, ranging from 6 years of age up to 14 or 15, would have to be taken to a "central school" from five to twenty miles away from the several homes. The children living at the more remote points would have to leave home and show up at the "collecting station" from an hour and a half to two hours before school time. In winter that would mean sunrise. Hundreds of small children would have to be up and eating breakfast while it was still dark.

Country parents are right in resisting any such "educational system."

Early Days in Covina

TEN YEARS AGO

The Argus this week received a postal from F. M. Chapman, Jr., the well-known orange grower of Cienega avenue, who enlisted with the Canadian artillery. Mr. Chapman is now in Belgium with his regiment. He has no idea when they will return home.

William Goldberg, the second of the seven Bolsheviks of Charter Oak who were arrested while trying to instigate a strike among the orange pickers, was found guilty of disturbing the peace after a three-day trial. The jury was out two hours before reaching a verdict. The jurors were Franklin Flick, J. N. Hurst, Frank Stokes, Matt Delano, J. K. Strosnider, Frank Mitchell, George Haines, F. H. Sowle, G. F. Maxwell, H. H. Cushman, John Groover, and F. P. Martin.

Seth Colver, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Colver of Charter Oak, has received the honor of the election as president of the senior law class of the University of California college of law, of which he is a member.

Sergeant Oscar Lindahl of Company A, 59th infantry, is now with the army of occupation in Germany and is located in Ernst, a city on the Moselle river.

S. W. Funk and Wm. E. Bravender have just returned from a visit to the San Siman valley in Arizona, near the New Mexico line. The trip was for the purpose of developing a large irrigation project.

Country parents are right in resisting any such "educational system."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

This week brings a new era in the Argus office and it is with pride that we invite our friends and readers to see our wonderful Simplex typesetting machine, just installed. Every time we see it work, with almost human intelligence, we feel like taking off our hat in its presence. It is certainly the best and most wonderful machine that ever graced a print shop.

A masquerade ball was held in Coolman's hall on February 22nd. Valuable prizes were awarded to the best-dressed lady and gent; best characteristic costumes; best national costumes.

J. Marques, the Mexican who was sentenced by Justice C. E. Parker to serve 100 days in jail for wife beating, has served his sentence and returned to Irwindale.

The Covina baseball team has been reorganized with O. T. Bush as manager. Arrangements have been made to change the ground to a more central location and the boys have secured a diamond on the Richmond tract, corner First street and San Bernardino road.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kester of Chumite, Kansas, spent their twentieth wedding anniversary with the latter's sister, Mrs. M. N. Overholtzer. Others present were Mrs. Kester's mother, Lydia Bolinger, and her sisters, Kate, Lydia and Lucinda Bollinger. The bride wore her wedding dress of twenty years ago.

Country parents are right in resisting any such "educational system."

Get Smoke Grime Out of Fabrics Now!

If smoke stained garments, curtains and draperies are cleaned at once there is little difficulty, nor danger to the fabric. But your garments and hangings should not be allowed to remain soiled—the action of air and sunlight on any kind of smoke stained fabric is liable to result in a chemical action in the fibres which will tender and destroy the threads to far greater extent than frequent washings by our modern methods can ever do.

Correct Processes, Harmless to Each Kind of Fabric

Our Laundry Service will solve most of your problems—careful classification according to color and texture, washing in gently rotating cylinders with nothing for the cleansing agent except pure, mild soap and soft water, numerous rinses in soft water, drying in spinning baskets, and ironing in machines so delicately adjusted that they will smooth wet tissue without tearing; this is the process used on your washable fabrics.

For pieces that can not be washed, our Dry Cleaning Department offers a service second to none. Continuous flowing, crystal clear, cleaning fluid frees the garments of grime and embedded soil—expert operators with non-scorching presses restore the original lines, the garment is returned renewed, lustrous.

Send Curtains Now! Delay is Dangerous

Your Curtains Should Be Sent Now—their delicate web-like structure and daily exposure to air and sunlight make them especially liable to deterioration if not promptly cleaned. We wash them gently in purest soap suds, rinse in clear soft water, and dry by a special process which insures their being returned with straight edges, square corners and exact size—and without pin holes. Send them now, before soot and sunlight destroy those delicate threads which make your curtains beautiful.
